Center Hill Lake

Approximate End of Launching Ramp Elevations

Revised Jan 2008

While the lake is maintained at lower levels, several launching ramps are or may become unusable, while others may be marginal. Boaters are encouraged to check the condition of their chosen ramp before attempting to launch their boat.

In addition, some areas, including ones that may be long distances from the shoreline, may become very shallow or even come out of the water. Some of these areas have been identified and marked with buoys, however, boaters should use caution when operating anywhere on the lake

Boaters are encouraged to operate their vessels at slower speeds, use depth finders, closely assess the conditions around them, pay attention to buoys and practice safe boating each time they're on the water.

The approximate end of launching ramp elevations are as follows:
